

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a fully remotely operable system for loading and unloading a vessel.

The system comprises a remotely operable joint connector for sealing or unsealing a vessel. It also consists of a remotely operable closure transport for removing a vessel closure from an opening in the vessel, and a remotely operable removal system for allowing material to be emptied from the vessel.

5 vessel.